In the year of our Lord
Nineteen-hundred seventy-one we proclaim this the Age of

Aquarius

*They say we are the generation of hope Moonchildren with Flower power
Who want to save the world . . .*

But how?

*We are to be nurses . . .
“Angels of Mercy”
But what of the being beneath this cloak of white?*

Who Is He?

What Is She Like?

*We are united in our youth,
Our enthusiasm for life, and
Our common challenges — to dream the impossible dream to seek the ultimate in our profession*

*to discover ourselves and in so doing the beauty of the human soul
to face the harsh realities of the world and accept our responsibilities in bettering it*

As the planets are united in a system

Yet each uniquely different

So must people be

Each an original

A mixture of our past, present, and future

Manifesting the personality called "me"

We are seeking meaning for our lives

We want to love —

to be a friend and know friendship to experience the intimacy of man and wife

to understand the nature of the creator

to genuinely care for our fellowman

We realize these lessons are not learned

from books

but from life,

Each experience strengthening the individual personality.

As individuals we seek to change the world

This is the hope of our generation

Not by mass revolution and destruction

*Rather quietly, steadily
by doing "my thing" getting involved because*

I CARE

Dedication

She was our mother away from home our freshman year.

The coffee and hot chocolate breaks she gave us during our long nights of studying for exams were a welcome haven.

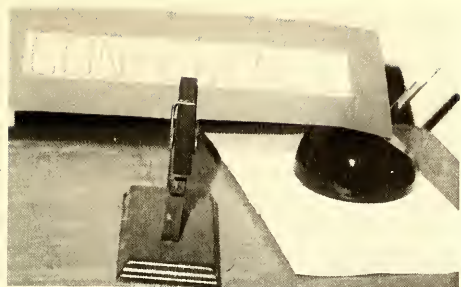

How could we forget the day it snowed and she came bouncing in, with her red boots and plaid pants on.

An open door, a shoulder to cry on, a listening ear -- there whenever we needed her.

How patient she was with our annual turnover of cell-mates; and who else would try to get males to come onto our campus or getting us bridge or knitting lessons?

Where would we be without you? -- We the Senior Class of 1971 dedicate this 1971 Cap and Pin to you -- Miss Ruth Williard.

CLASS OF '71

The end or is it really the beginning? Psychiatric nursing, team leading, geriatrics and graduation stand out in the SENIORS' minds. The end of three years of work, study, fun, sometimes heartbreak, often joy, is now coming to an end. But what an end! Career, marriage and a lifetime of staying involved and caring. An end . . . we think not.

Appreciation

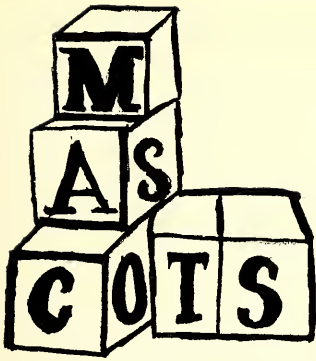

Where there is a gathering of students, there is a refreshment table -- to go along with their appetite.

The planning for these refreshments are done by an anonymous pair, who make sure someone is there to assist, serve, even clean up.

In recognition of this fact, the Senior Class of 1971 would appropriately extend our Appreciation to Mrs. Miller and Mr. Teasley.

In the middle. The Challenge to become a nurse has been half met. Maternal and Infant Nursing and Pediatrics highlight a year of hard work for the juniors. But with hard work comes play, tears, laughter and love. Be involved? These are the involved, these of the class of '72.

HOLIDAY

A sparkling, clear, cold night, festive, holiday decorations, and beautifully dressed young people mixed well for a delightful Christmas party. Music, dancing, and the crowning of a Queen were highlights of a fun-filled night at the country club -- the Christmas Dance 1970.

X-Ray

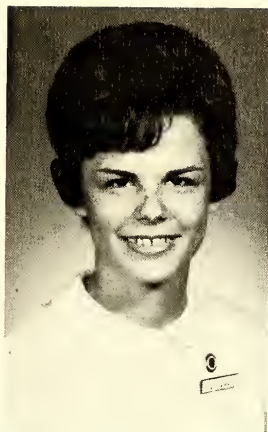

The School of Radiology is dedicated to each and every person. Each girl enters this course for their various reasons. As the years go by the girls seek the answers to why and for what reason they gave their two years of learning to x-ray.

Freshmen, their first year are full of questions so they look up to the Seniors for their answers. The school of x-ray has come a long way. Now that we have formed the first class of x-ray we are able to have more activities of our own as well as we do with the nurses. At the end of our two years we finally find our answers through teachers, doctors and our own experience.

A d v i s o r

The Student Nurse Association encourages interest and support in all aspects of our profession. District meetings and the convention mean the excitement of meeting students from other schools and learning more about the progress of nursing today. Jan Shore, Kathy Edwards, Sharon Kindley, and Carolyn Anderson serve as officers, under the direction of Miss Williard, their Advisor.

Officers

CSU

The Christian Student Union was formed in order for the students interested in religion to be able to share their mutual interest in a conducive atmosphere. Reverend Howard Allred and Miss Elizabeth Hartsell advisors of CSU have been a great help in guiding the students.

Glee Club

The Glee Club is composed of voluntary students who enjoy the relaxation and beauty of singing. These students practice regularly with their director, Mrs. Evelyn Roberts. They are active in singing publicly for various groups and organizations.

FALL FESTIVAL

Saturday morning dawned cool and clear, with the crispness of the air only quickening the preparations for the Fall Festival. Booths of every description, and prizes, food, gypsies, and happy people soon filled the lawn of our country club.

The crowning of our Queen and an auction directed by Mr. Cook were highlights of a delightful afternoon.

The beginning! Of What?
Hard work, fun, some anxiety,
but a challenge to be met.

Basic Science, Fundamentals, Sociology, and Psychology are all to be learned. Fun to be had,
money to earn, joy, frustration, and happiness to live. The beginning -- yes -- of many things for '73.

Yes, the lyrics to the popular tune, "The Impossible Dream," has been attained by the class of '70. As the girls proudly marched up for their pins and diplomas their faces glowed with happiness, and yet there were glistening tears in the eyes of some. Three of the longest years of their lives had just ended with the realization of the beginning of their expression of love for mankind. The doors of the future opened -- challenging each girl to become a shining example of the Nursing Profession.

"GET INVOLVED" has become the cry of our generation. We recognize the need for each individual to do his part in changing the dishevelment of our times. We sometimes flatter ourselves with the idea that only the young "now generation" can handle this scene. A more objective view reveals those of other generations who have been compelled by the needs of others.

One such individual is Mr. Charles A. Cannon; a man not concerned with just the past, but with today and tomorrow. We as students and as youth wish to thank him for his insight and involvement in the things which better humanity.

Under the leadership and guidance of the hospital administration, its School of Nursing and School of Radiology have thrived and progressed steadily. Provided through their concern for improvement and our well-being, they have seen that we acquire new recreational facilities, and educational opportunities.

Leaders are those whom the masses follow; true leaders are part of the mass, but with the greater foresight into what lurks beyond.

So is our school's leaders of Nursing Education; both are RN's, having survived being a Student Nurse; and both have had many years of the joy and sadness of being a nurse. With this experience as qualifications, they offer leadership to both student and faculty.

Courteous and warm advice gives the student a feeling of trust in someone who cares, Miss Adams is always ready to give advice to students, be it personal or academic.

Also an instructor, she gives Seniors an insight into nursing trends today, and a gleam of nursing tomorrow.

A willingness to listen, a desire to help, a door always open to students -- so is Miss Young.

Assisting in running the School of Nursing is only a part of her many activities; being advisor of the yearbook and heading faculty committees, also fill her time.

House Mothers

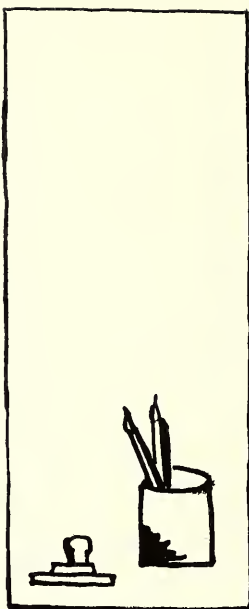

Is there any mail for me? This is the question from our many nursing and radiological students to our housemothers each day. Three, Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. Simpson, and Mrs. Adden, have tolerated our problems and anxieties for quite some time. Our new addition, Mrs. Eudy, is just beginning to realize our disappointment and anticipations. Their sincere concern for our well-being and happiness is greatly appreciated since it is they who take time to notice our differing moods, whether they are expressions of melancholy or blissfulness. There are times when we may seem to take them for granted, and perhaps even seem resentful for their reprimands. But, regardless of our actions they're always there with a warm smile and an attentive ear.

How they abide us we'll never be able to understand; but we're thankful that they do put up with all our questions. They're always there to teach when needed; and regardless of their lack of time, they always seem to be able to lend a helping hand. With patient, understanding hearts, they meet us with encouragement, for this we are always grateful.

R_v

In this rushed, confused world we live in, many look to the stars for guidance. It is with this in mind, we have chosen the "AGE OF AQUARIUS" as the theme of our book. It symbolizes a new era of hope of peace in the world, of a deeper understanding of self, and a reaching out of man to man. We believe each person is a unique individual with differing concepts and goals for his way of life. We hold as truth, that it is these young, caring, envisioned, individualists that hold the future of humanity in their hands.

To those of the yearbook staff, our deepest thanks; without you this book would not have been possible. Thank you to the student body, who worked so diligently on the Fall Festival, providing the financial backing for the book. A special thanks to Becky Simmons, who although not a member of the staff, gave of her time in the completion of the yearbook. Also, to Sylvia Potter and Beth Dunn for their experienced knowledge, a grateful thank you.

We must express our appreciation to Mr. Pete Allen and Mr. Jim Wilhelm for their magnitude of patience and helpful guidance, and to Mr. Ken Ballard and his magical darkroom, which produced pictures on the shortest notice.

For their encouragement and sponsorship, we thank Mrs. Nancy Hood and Miss Carrie Young, our advisors.

Much has gone into the creation of this book. We hope it is received in the spirit it is presented -- the realization of the AGE OF AQUARIUS.
